

CONNECTIONS Outage Scheduled for Friday, 5/16

Due to required database maintenance, the CONNECTIONS application will be unavailable from 10 PM to 2 AM on Friday 5/16 to Saturday 5/17.

Changes from the build will not be apparent to users and will not affect the CONNECTIONS application, outside of the 4 hour outage.

FAR Build Scheduled

The upcoming Family Assessment Response (FAR) Build has been scheduled for the evening of May 30 . This will result in an outage from 10 PM to 2 AM in which the CONNECTIONS application will be unavailable. For those who may not have attended training yet, new classes have been added, and there are classes with openings on May 21, 22, 23, and May 30 (AM) and May 29 (AM and PM). Staff who may have already attended classes but feel they need a refresher because of the delay are welcome to re-register.

Conversion of Existing FAR Cases

The upcoming FAR build will not immediately convert existing FAR stages to the new, modernized format. Following the build, both closed and open existing FAR stages will be converted to the modernized format between June 4th and July 11th. The conversions will be scheduled by region, and will occur on Wednesdays and Fridays in the normal 4 AM to 7 AM CONNECTIONS maintenance windows.

Open FAR Stages will all be converted on Wednesday, June 4th. Between the May 30th FAR implementation date and June 4th, workers will still have access to open stages, but they will not appear in the new design layout. Any new cases or stages opened during this time period will be in the new functionality.

Closed FAR Stages will be converted on Wednesdays and Fridays by region, starting on June 6th.

A more detailed conversion schedule will be made available in the coming weeks.

FAR Tip Sheets/Guidance Documents: Now Available

In preparation for the upcoming FAR Build, several guidance documents are now available. Please note that a second job aid, in blue, is new this week. This job aid is relevant to all CPS staff, not just those implementing FAR.

FAR Build: Background

Comprehensive CONNECTIONS system support for Family Assessment Response (FAR) will be implemented with an upcoming build on May 30. With this upgrade, a new FAR stage will be incorporated into CONNECTIONS and various windows used for FAR and INV stages will be modernized. A FAR Impact Analysis has been developed that outlines these changes while also delineating the key impacts for all levels of affected staff, district policies and business processes.

Although the new FAR Stage will affect primarily those districts currently participating in the FAR program, other changes will affect a broader range of staff using CONNECTIONS. The build will also modernize existing investigation windows, including Safety Assessment, Risk Assessment, and INV Progress Notes. These updated windows will now appear visually similar to the rest of the INV windows in CONNECTIONS, which feature a navigation pane and collapsible sections. The investigation window related changes are “look and feel” changes only—there will be no modification to window functionality or business rules.

In addition, there will no longer be a CPRS link on the NAVIGATION PANE of the My Workload tab; the Child Protective Record Summary window will no longer be available. Instead, the new Stage Summary window will provide CONNECTIONS users with access to specific view-only stage action windows for INV stages (i.e., Case Summary, Review Intake, High Priority Factors (NYC only), Allegations, Investigation Actions, Safety Assessments, Risk Assessment, Progress Notes, Local Protocol, and Investigation Conclusion).

The FAR Impact Analysis, training announcement, and training schedule are available on the CONNECTIONS Implementation webpage at the links below. Staff should routinely refer to this page and upcoming weekly CONNECTIONS Build Bulletins, where more information will be provided as the build approaches.

FAR Training

Training Update: As of Wednesday, May 6, 213 staff have either registered for or attended the FAR training. Please note that once the build implementation date has been rescheduled, any staff who have already attended the training but wish to attend again closer to the implementation date will be able to do so.

Getting to Know the Family Assessment Response (FAR) Stage in CONNECTIONS

Build iLinc Training

This training is targeted to staff in the districts that participate in the FAR program. Registration for the classes is now available through the Human Services Learning Center.
