Among the more severe effects for children with a FASD are:

- developmental disabilities;
- physical health problems;
- learning disabilities;
- attention problems;
- hyperactivity;
- poor impulse control; and
- social, language, and memory difficulties.

Decisions your patients make now about alcohol consumption may lead to a lifetime of consequences.

Tell her that NO AMOUNT OF ALCOHOL USE is safe during pregnancy.

You can help prevent Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorders (FASD).
