The Child Care and Development Fund Block Grant
The Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG)

- The CCDBG Act of 2014 reauthorized the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) for the first time since 1996.
- The CCDF is a $5.3 billion block grant that provides funding to States to improve the quality of child care and provide access to low-income families.
- In 2016, NYS’s CCDF allocation was $323 million.
- CCDBG reauthorizes the CCDF through FY 2020.
Among Other Things, CCDBG Focuses On:

- Increasing access to high-quality child care by low-income families
- Redirecting subsidy funds to underserved areas and populations
- Minimize the cliff effect when families lose eligibility for subsidy
Access to Child Care
Child Care and Development Fund Plan - Section 4.6.3

• States must describe procedures and processes to:
  • Increase access to high quality programs, and
  • Give priority of investments to children in high poverty areas with few/no high-quality programs.
New York State CCDF Plan - Section 4.6.3

• NY’s approach:
  • Step 1: Use existing data sources to identify “high need” areas (low income and high number of children per regulated child care slots).
  • Step 2: Expand definition of quality beyond licensing/registration. Requires creative thinking given the lack of resources to expand QualityStarsNY.
  • Step 3: Develop policies and procedures to improve access in underserved areas.
NY Child Care Demographic Report

- A child care demographic profile for each county in NY
- Tables of relevant socio-economic, demographic, child care, and child care assistance data
- Maps showing:
  - Distribution of child care locations
  - Availability of regulated child care by sub-county area
  - Distribution of low income families by sub-county area
  - High child care need areas
Example: Albany
Number of children per regulated slot

- 0 to 1.99 Children per Regulated Slot
- 2 to 2.99 Children per Regulated Slot
- 3 to 5.99 Children per Regulated Slot
- 6 or More Children per Regulated Slot
- No Slots for Infants, Toddlers, or Preschoolers
Availability of Subsidized Child Care
New York State in Context

- NY directs 83% of its federal child care allocation to child care subsidies.
- Through its commitment of General Fund and TANF dollars, NY is one of the highest providers in the nation of subsidies as a percentage of its CCDF grant.
- The number of NY children and families receiving subsidized care is consistently among the highest in the country, along with California, Texas, Florida, and Pennsylvania.
Extent to Which Child Care Need is Met

• A complicated question with no easy answer
• According to a national 2011 study, only 17% of eligible children birth through age 12 nationwide received subsidies. This figure included:
  • Preschool-age children enrolled in free pre-k and Head Start programs, thereby reducing the need for full-time child care
  • School-age children who didn’t need child care because they were enrolled in publicly funded after-school programs
  • Children in low-income families who weren’t otherwise eligible for child care
  • Eligible families who chose not to seek subsidized care

Avoiding the “Cliff Effect”
Just What Is the “Cliff Effect?”

- Refers to a sudden loss of benefits

- In NYS, when a family loses financial or programmatic eligibility for child care subsidy, state regulation requires that local social services districts must provide the family with 10-days’ notice.

- Social services law requires 30-day notice when a local district implements a closing process when funds are unavailable or a plan amendment which reduces eligibility.
States must develop policies and procedures that support continuity of care for children, including:

- 12-month period before eligibility redetermination
- Redetermination process cannot unduly disrupt parents’ employment
- 3-month job search period for parents who lose their jobs
- Graduated phase-out of assistance for families who otherwise would be deemed ineligible for continued assistance and for whom subsidy support would be discontinued.
Graduated Phase-Out

Section 658E(c)(2)(N)(iv) of the CCDBG Act: “The [state’s Child Care and Development Fund Plan] shall describe the policies and procedures that are in place to allow for provision of continued assistance…at the beginning of a new eligibility period…for children of parents who are working or attending a job training or educational program and whose family income exceeds the State’s income limit to initially qualify for such assistance, if the family income for the family involved does not exceed 85 percent of the State median income for a family of the same size.”
Graduated Phase-Out (cont’d.)

• At the beginning of a new eligibility period,…
• the state shall develop policies and procedures…
• for children whose parents are in an approved activity.
• and whose income has increased above the State’s eligibility level…
• but not above 85% of the State Median Income

Excellence in New York

New York:

• Was ranked No. 2 in the nation behind the Department of Defense in the rigor of its child care center regulations.

• Is one of the top four states in numbers of on-site inspections completed annually
  - This increases compliance- allows for direct technical assistance- and prevents and corrects issues before they become serious.

• Has the lowest required teacher-to-child ratios in five of the eight age groups in child care centers
  - This allows children to receive more sensitive and appropriate caregiving and score higher in developmental assessments.
Excellence in New York (cont’d.)

New York:

• Maintains lower group sizes on average than other states
  o This leads to a higher quality of care and better physical and mental health outcomes.

• Is one of a handful of states at or above the 69th percentile
  o This supports child care providers in their ability to serve low-income families.

• Actively supports family-based providers to improve program quality through quality grant and professional development opportunities
  o Improved program quality translates to better outcomes for children.
Access to Quality: Informed Decision Making
Child Care Web Site Enhancements

- A distinct new web page for programs that:
  - are subject to enforcement actions or after investigation
  - have been identified, after investigation, as operating illegally without a license
- Additional information explaining enforcement actions, their meanings, and definitions
- A redesigned, more-detailed inspection history with regulatory violations and the current status of those violations. This history is in the process of being extended from two to six years.

Goal: More transparency and access for parents
Child Care Website Enhancements

Choosing child care is an important decision. You can learn about choices in these short Child Care Options videos. Safe and positive child care sets the stage for healthy growth and development. It takes time, patience and understanding of what to look for when selecting child care. You know the needs of your child and family. However, you may need assistance in matching those needs to available resources. That is why OCFS is proud to share with you the supports that we have put in place to assist you in making this important decision.

Choosing Child Care Options

There are many types of child care programs in New York State. Quality programs provide care in a warm, safe and friendly setting. Quality programs provide activities that help children learn and develop. No one type of program is necessarily better than any other type of program. You are the best judge of which program will meet your needs and your child’s needs.
